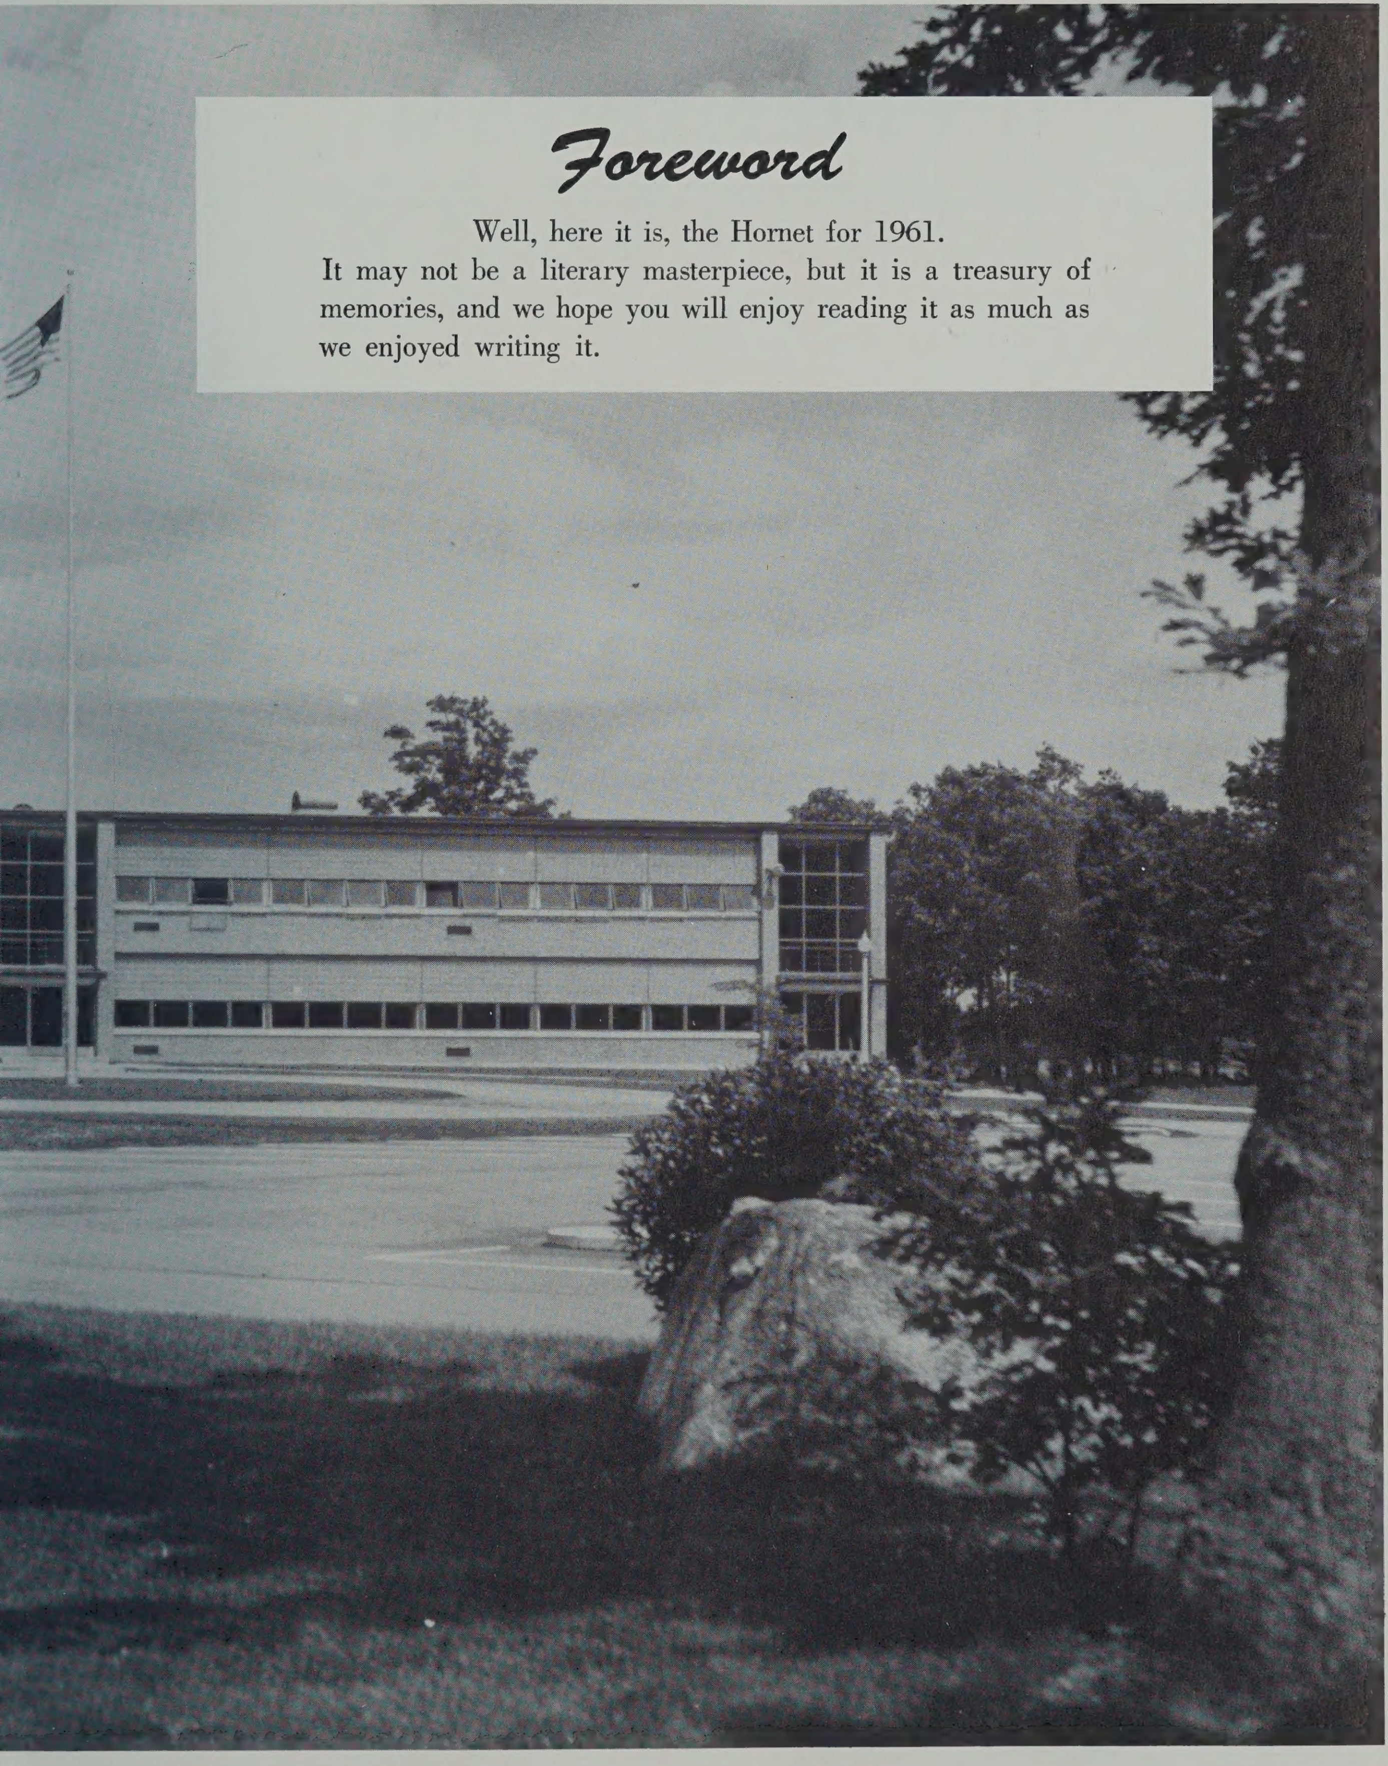
MANSFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

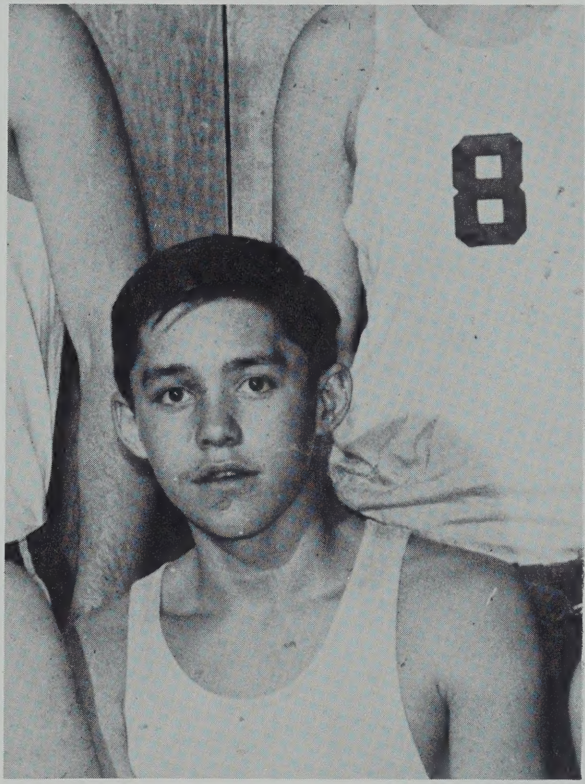
Foreword

Well, here it is, the Hornet for 1961.

It may not be a literary masterpiece, but it is a treasury of memories, and we hope you will enjoy reading it as much as we enjoyed writing it.



IN MEMORIAM



PAUL GORDON

In our Sophomore year, the class suffered the loss of a conscientious student, a fine athlete and a good friend.

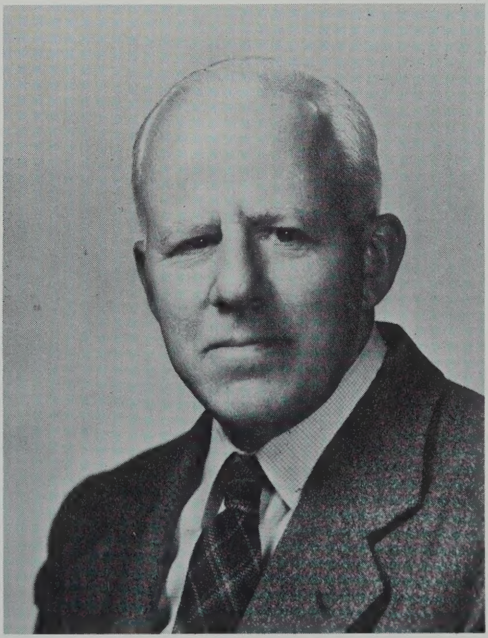
"Requiescat in pace."

The Class of 1961

Appreciation

To Miss Ruth MacIndewar goes our deepest gratitude for all the much needed help and co-operation she has given us. Miss MacIndewar was both a tireless advisor and a true friend to the Class of '61. Thanks, "Mackie."

Mr. Robert H. Payden, our yearbook advisor, with patience and understanding, helped us to produce this scrapbook of fond memories. We, the Class of '61, gratefully thank you for your assistance.



Superintendent's Message

I extend my congratulations to you upon your graduation from Mansfield High School.

Mansfield High School has prepared you for the various pursuits you will follow.

The best predictor of what you will do in the future is what you are doing in the present.

Make the present, one of accomplishment, work and success, and your future is destined to be successful.

In the game, the winner is the one who carries the ball, and who has the better offense; he makes the breaks.

In life the same facts are true.

Play a good game in the great game of life; play hard, carry the ball, take the initiative, keep on the offensive.

Principal's Message

CLASS OF 1961:

> "Wisdom is the principal
> thing;
> therefore get wisdom:
> and with all thy getting > get understanding."
> Proverbs 4:7

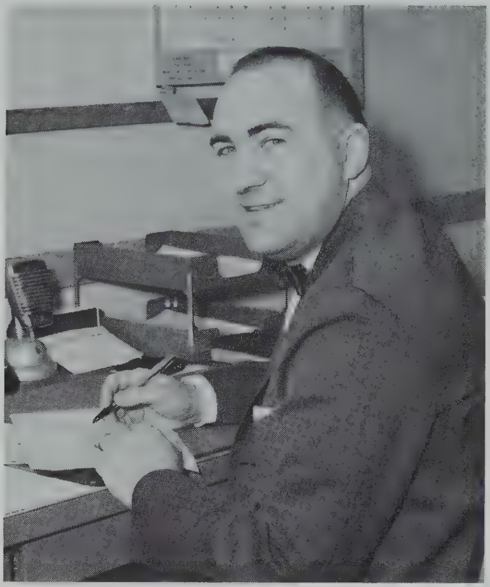
Good luck and God Bless You.

Harold L. Qualters

Harold L. Qualters,
Principal

Asst'-Principal's Message



You, the graduating class of 1961, have completed your formal education as provided by the Mansfield School System. It is my fondest hope that the basic learning you have acquired here will benefit you through life.

The world of reality, which you are about to enter to seek a place in life, is uncertain. At any moment hostilities may develop which would cause this country to fight for its survival. We are living under the threat of nuclear warfare, and shall continue to do so. Therefore, we must keep our country strong.

We can do this through education. It is your duty as good citizens to replace ignorance with knowledge and prejudice with tolerance. You must do your share to maintain our country's leadership in world affairs.

As you begin a new career in an unsheltered world, I hope you will always endeavor to seek truth and be considerate of your fellow man.

Congratulations, graduates, may your future life always be happy, successful, and prosperous.

Class History

By

CYNTHIA FISCHBACH ROBERTA THOMPSON

Can it be possible that we the Class of 1961 have finally completed our four years at Mansfield High School? As eighth graders, we were all confident of our position in our new adventure. We all enjoyed getting out of Guidance class to talk to Mr. Lemieux in preparation for our next four years at M.H.S. The finale of our Junior Wing Years was a Graduation Dance where we all exchanged fond farewells until next year.

One beautiful day in the early fall of September of 1957, we the Class of '61 entered the mystifying portals of M.H.S., as bewildered as any P-greens could possibly be. Within a month, under the guidance of our advisors, Mrs. Whitmore and Mr. McLaughlin, we had elected our freshman class officers; James Wills, President; William Upper, Vice-President; Kathleen Houghton, Secretary; and Diane Liberatore, Treasurer. The corridors enclosed utter confusion as the youngest members of the Senior Wing asked questions as, "Where is Room 210?" and "Where are Miss Jones's Latin classes?" The lab was no trouble to find as we could smell our way to it.

Our first obligation as lowly freshmen was to memorize this little poem which was recited on command of a senior class member who had a lot of push and pull, even though most of it was push.

"You are the mighty seniors
Whom we adore and praise,
We look up to you with humbleness
Throughout our freshman days."

Our only social event for the year was "Swing Into Spring." As our first successful dance closed our freshman year, we were all hoping that our next three years would be as happy and prosperous.

We looked forward to the Wednesday after Labor Day of 1958 because we knew that we would no longer be the youngest members of the Senior Wing. Our officers were James Wills, President; Ronald Linari, Vice-President; Kathleen Houghton, Secretary; and Diane Liberatore, Treasurer.

This year, Miss MacIndewar joined our class as an advisor. "Spook Spectacular" was the first social which was followed by "Maytime Melody," both memorable and enjoyable events. Attending Class Day Exercises once again, we, as Gay Young Sophomores, bade the seniors goodbye, realizing that our destination was nearer in sight.

We were halfway through our high school career as we entered our "Jolly" Junior year under the able leadership of James Wills, Ronald Linari, Teresa Antosca, and Kathleen Houghton as President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively. This year Mr. Lombardi became a new member of the faculty as well as our class advisor. Only the seniors could surpass our display of superiority complexes.

Our class rings arrived in October, and they were the rave of the school. The halls were filled with such exclamations as, "Hey, have you seen my class ring?" Towards the end of the year, Loring Studios was chosen by ninety-six per cent of our class to be the photographers for our yearbook. About this time Kathleen Houghton was elected as delegate to Girls' State and Pauline Alfonso, alternate. For Boys' State, William Upper was chosen as delegate and Michael Alessandri as alternate.
"Brooms Away," our only sweater dance, preceded the highlight of the academic year which we, the Juniors, sponsored.

Plans were being made to put on the most popular and most prominent social event—The Senior Reception. Decorations were made, entertainment was decided upon, and refreshments prepared and furnished. Our motif for the Reception was an oriental theme. Everyone surely remembers the hundreds of roses we cheerfully constructed. The profits from the Prom plus the proceeds from our annual donut drive added more money to our treasury.

The sands of time ran out on our last summer vacation. We entered Mansfield High School for the last year as "Grand Old" Seniors, a respected position for which we had waited three years.

Our first privilege as seniors was the initiation of the new freshmen. The freshman boys had more lipstick on their faces than all the girls together. The front yard of M.H.S. was certainly rollicking with fun that day! The Freshmen were excited as well as surprised at their initiation dance, the climax of their freshman week. Ellen Bolin was equally surprised as she realized the eggs she had boiled were not hard enough.

The next event on our busy schedule was the football season. Although we did not receive the Class "D" Championship as we did in our Junior year, our senior members, under the co-captainship of Ralph DePillo, helped to make this sport as successful as the baseball and basketball seasons. We won the Class "C" Championship at the Bay State Tourney, a proud moment in our basketball season. Tennis and golf, although they were relatively new sports at Mansfield High, gave our class more athletic recognition.

Throughout the year, we held a Halloween Dance and a Thanksgiving Victory Dance. One of the more astounding accomplishments was the class play, under the direction of Mr. Mastromarino. A terrific cast presented "The Redheaded Royalty From Arkansas" on November 18, 1960. The actors had as good a time putting on the play as the audience did receiving it. Our class pictures came just in time to publicize our "Hollywood" actors and actresses.

One of the bigger socials of the year was Club '61. Remember the "French" waitresses with the black skirts, white blouses, and berets and Mr. Whitmore's many trips to refill the punch bowl? Judy Vallett and "Patie" Bartlett will surely never forget the fun they had entertaining the "nightclubbers."

A spaghetti supper, a new event sponsored by our senior class, was held May 24, 1961. This was probably the first time anyone had to go down to the nurse's office for a "pinch of salt" instead of the usual band-aid. Trays of lettuce decorated the counters of the Home Economics Department as Mrs. Whitmore busily prepared the vegetable for the salad that evening. Everyone enjoyed his favorite meal and the cook, Mrs. Carbonetti, was highly complimented as many people attended the supper.

With these senior activities behind us, we all felt the excitement of graduation when we were measured for our caps and gowns. The juniors also felt the proximity of our graduation as they busily planned our reception with the use of our class flower, the blue and white carnation; the class colors, sapphire blue and white; and the class motto, "The future is the world limited by ourselves."

The Commencement Exercises were held June 11, Baccalaureate Service; June 12, Class Day and the Class Banquet; June 13, Graduation; and June 16, The Senior Reception.

The Senior Class would like to thank Mrs. Whitmore, Miss MacIndewar, and Mr. Lombardi for all the time and energy they gave to the projects we had. Without these wonderful class advisors, our senior year would not have been so prosperous.

And now as we anxiously await to receive our diplomas, we realize the importance and sincerity of this memorable occasion. May we keep in mind that we entered this educational institution as a group, but now leave as individuals.

With mixed feelings of sorrow and happiness we leave to go our diverse ways. "What we are to be, we are now becoming."

Last Will and Testament

By

PAULINE ALFONSO and JOAN RAMONDETTA

We, the illustrious Senior Class of Mansfield High, famed far and wide for nonsense and such, admitting our minds are a little unstable, do hereby bequeath the following document, our Last Will and Testament, before setting forth on our separate journeys.

To the school we send a dozen ivy plants, in hopes that future classes will graduate from the hallowed halls of ivy.

To Mr. Murphy, we leave hoping that he will continue his sincere efforts for the betterment of M.H.S.

To Mr. Qualters, we give an Indian blanket and a fire so that he may send up in smoke all of next year's problems.

To Mr. Maloney we give a conductor's baton to lead next year's "singing seniors" to the tune of "Happy Birthday."

To the Faculty—A supply of serum for the prevention of that communicable disease—"senioritis."

To the Juniors go the problem of initiating the Freshmen, and the privilege of causing a traffic congestion on bicycle day.

To the Sophomores, we leave our cozy corners in the corridors.

To the Freshmen, we give a shamrock for the luck that they will need.

Now, we force upon the Underclassmen our last, unearthly possessions—

Joan Agan leaves her position as messenger to Miss Driscoll's next year's front-row, first-seater.

Mike Alessandri shall dedicate his life to gazing at figures—mathematical ones.

Dave "Dabid" Cinelli gives a book to Mr. Lassaletta entitled, "Como No Pasar el Espanol en Una Leccion Facil," or "How to Flunk Spanish in One Easy Lesson."

Judee Farinella's hearty, healthy laugh goes to Carol "I get silly easy" Ottaviani.

Caroline Barboza gallops away on the horse in the gymnasium.

Henry Austin gives up his baseball uniform to anyone worthy of a place on the team.

Patie Bartlett leaves her blue bomber and rides along Route 1 to anyone who can maintain her record of not losing any drag race entered.

The administration will be pleased to hear that Clayton Clatur hands them his home-made lie detector, much to the dismay of the students.

Ron Linari dribbles his basketball down the court and passes it to Bill Piasecki.

Donna Greenwood is the recipient of Anne Carbonetti's demure, quiet voice.

Carol Liberatore and Terre Chace leave their slender figures to Janet Strople.

Joe LaPlante sends his science fiction magazines to Cape Canaveral.

Maureen Canty lends her crutches to anyone who would like an excuse—one that works every time—for being late to classes.

Gary Willis shall be given Rosanna MacKinlay's size five shoes.

Diane and Donna Cleary, future stewardesses, bid goodbye singing, "Comin' in on a Wing and a Prayer."

Joni Ramondetta passes her wardrobe on to her sister, Barbara.

Jill Keating and Gloria Nasise donate their jet black hair to Andrea Carnie.

Ralph DePillo tosses his leadership on the football team to Ron Gentili.

Linda Galanti leaves—embarrassed.

Lucille Farrell and Brenda Madan send Mr. Mastromarino a free can of oil to use on his crepe-soled shoes.

Ed Marcheselli waves farewell and descends to that hill of brick and stone—Stonehill College.

Sally "Peaches and Cream" Kelleher receives Joyce Kreimendahl's naturally pink complexion.

Karen "Dizzy-legs" Dauphinee gives her rhythmical feet to Mr. Kelley to help him teach his dancing classes a new step.

The sweet, sophisticated manner of Constance Chartier is bestowed on her sister, Aurore.

Mr. Payden says to Margaret Cataloni as she leaves, "Well, I can't help it if that car didn't move when it saw me coming."

Carlin "Happy Tooth" Fales leaves the sound of her echoing laugh to ring throughout the Spanish rooms.

Ellen Bolin hands over her position as most typical senior girl to Barbara Kudzol.

Bob Malagrida wills his privilege of sleeping in English IV to Benjamin—er—Franklin Blake.

Diane Liberatore hasn't time to bequeath any thing because she is about to appear in court for her many rackets.

Ruth Andrews passes on her charm to Mary Briggs.

Jon Lawton cuts some of his curls and gives them to some of the girls sporting new "pixie-cuts."

Gordon "Anytime is Funtime" Corey bequeaths his many colorful bow-ties and library books to the boys' social fund of M.H.S.

Robert Alexander, Barry Brown, Norman Hawes, and Mike Picciandra have left to become the Big Four of Uncle Sam's Navy.

Putt Blandori and Wilfred Laprise will their well used parking spaces to a girl who needs a few lessons in parking, Elaine Shaw.

Harry Davis leaves to sound-off in many European countries—as a member of the School Band of America.

Last Will and Testament

Steve Branigan, William Bond, and Jeff Cheyne leave their musical instruments to three new windbags.

Sandy Jusczyk, author of “Oh So Many Boys,” autographs and presents it to Diane Copparini.

Sam Davidson, spokesman for the group of Senior boys known as “The Cards,” leaves a marked deck.

Ronnie Corbett gives his ivy league shirts to Phil “I've gone Hawaiian” Chase.

Mary Jardim gives the gleam in her eye to Karen Hawes.

Tess Antosca leaves to the library a very useful book entitled—“Promise Her Anything, But Give Her a New Car.”

Sandy Ferrara is willing to mix up a prescription of her famous “Peppy Pills for a Perky People” for Tom Balfour.

Kathy Houghton leaves, only to break up the M.H.S. Lennon Sisters.

Roberta Thompson leaves asking, “How can you say that hydrochloric acid is covalent when there seems to be at least a partial electron transfer forming a di-polar molecule?”

Claire Ferris leaves to put her homemaking talents to good use. Right, Claire?

Joan Partington and Judy Vallett bequeath their daintiness to Judy Roulle.

Pat O'Neill leaves to wait for Doug.

Doug Shelbourne bestows his dependability on Udo Bowen.

George Hodson wills his chemistry knowledge to Ernie Chace???????

Gay Willis leaves her domestic qualities to the recipient of next year's “Betty Crocker Award.”

Raye McLaughlin leaves her coyness to Claire Sands.

Rodney Stearns leaves his ability to blush at everything to any girl who wishes to get attention.

The very erect posture of Bill Upper is left to Peter Musto.

Ronnie Miller, Harry Melfie, and Jason Jones leave their industrious usefulness to the school.

Bill Holske hands his comb and brush to Craig Wade.

Carole Fisher wills her contralto voice to Jayne Atherton.

Judy Hall leaves her rule, “Silence is Golden” to Carol Witherspoon.

Ted Robinson wishes to give his flashing smile to Jack Ricardo, who has already begun to put it to use.

Marcia Snell and Judy Moody leave to bang away on the typewriters at Foxboro Company.

John Sarro gives his bottle of Old Spice to that junior “lover boy”—Paul DeGirolamo.

Pauline Alfonso bestows her people-pleasing problems to Debbie Bartlett and Jean Baldini—the co-chairmen of the “62” Biography Committee.

Joan McCarthy leaves to win the hearts of all the patients of Pondville.

Jim Wills leaves to become the next President of the United States, with the backing of the “Wills for President Youth Club.”

Bill Young gives his good looks to Bobby “Troy Donahue” Dutton.

Linda Prescott bequeaths her height to Sandra Carl.

Ed Whittier leaves to take over the management of Pomfret's Diner.

Celine Melchiorri tosses her baton to Cheryl Carfer.

Brian Welch leaves saying, “All right, you guys.”

Nancy Peterson passes her ability to handle a basketball to Elaine Spaulding.

The title of “casanova” goes from Tony Tiatorio to Larry Jackson.

Judy Fitzsimmons bequeaths her “Fitzsimmons Law”—for radicals such as $Ag(NH_3)_2$ to next year's chemistry class.

John Scarpellini donates his red hair to that darling little freshman—Leo MacDonald.

Cheryl McConnell leaves a pair of “worn out” parade boots to Mr. Gallo.

Karen Guillette hands down her temper to cool, calm and collected Jane Cronin.

Walt Souza endows his muscle man physique to Brent McCoy.

Jimmy Vadala is the possessor of Wayne Goebel's collegiate clothes and looks.

Dick Scarpellini leaves to put his “banker's hours” to use, as clerk in the First National Bank.

Brenda Pedini bestowed her tailor made dresses to Karen Hansen.

Sally Nordberg leaves to make double bubble, toil and trouble at our neighborhood pharmacy.

Any junior girl who has a slight fondness for the Marines will be happy to receive Nancy Tessier's fountain pen and box of stationery.

Cynthia Fischbach leaves to become finished at Fisher.

Gertie Pazsit, already having traveled to Bermuda, leaves to become Miss Hannon's valet on her annual European tours.

Joanne Goodwin leaves her “love for history to Dennis Payden.

Donna Stewart leaves her tickets for overloaded cars to Janet Strople and her 61 convertible.

David Thibault leaves his ability to hold his own with the ladies to William Butt.

Phil Harrington and John Santos leave to make faces in the watch factory.

Prophecy

By

JUDITH FARINELLA PATIENCE BARTLETT

"10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1-0." As the "El Futuro" time machine soars into the future a shout is heard from the far end of the field.

"Hey, Jeff, isn't that Henry Austin? Wasn't he supposed to be up in the ship?" exclaimed Bill Bond, one of the most prominent scientists of his time, who alongw ith Jeff Cheyne constructed the first time machine to travel into the future.

Up rushes good ole Henry, late as always, "I thought—didn't you go—up—then—w—w—who," stammers Jeff.

At that moment another voice is audible from the machine.

"Hey, someone's up there—but—who?"

"All right, you guys. I got the cards. Where are you? Stop fooling around, let's get the ole game rolling."

"That sounds like Gordon Corey," cries Jeff. "He must have pushed the sound transmitter on." Jeff furiously fumbles with the controls.

"Calling Gordon Corey. Calling Gordon Corey. Can you read me? Over and out."

"Hey, what's goin' on? Where the 8/&"# am I?"

"Gordon, listen carefully, I only have a few minutes before you will be far into the future and no longer in contact with us. You are in a time machine that will take you all over the world. You will be an aid to science and become a national hero—if it works! Here is what you must do . . ."

As Jeff finishes his explanation, a sharp buzz is heard and they realize that Gordon is now on his own.

Gordon, not quite sure if he understands all the instructions, wonders what the red button is for. One touch whirls Gordon five years forward into France. As Gordon emerges from the ship his first thoughts are to see the sights of Gay Paree. Naturally his first stop is a dance Hall. He figures he can see as many sights there as any other place. As he enters he is greeted by his old buddy, Sam Davidson, who is now owner of the famous club, Moulin Rouge. Sam proudly invites him to see his two best dancers, Celine and Claire. After the show, they step over to the bar where the head bartender, Ronnie Miller, serves them—pink lemonade, of course!

Sam offers to show Gordon the high spots of Paris. Since Gordon is, as always, starved, their first stop is a sidewalk cafe owned by Monsieur Upper. As Bill snaps his fingers, his beautiful French waitresses appear who are none other than Mary Jardim, Ruth Andrews, and Gay Willis. While the group reminisces over lunch about their high school days, Gordon asks if "April in Paris" is still as beautiful as ever.

"Well," says Sam, "If you really want to see beauty let's go to Karen Guillette's Fashion Saloon, I mean Salon. Did you know that she is Paris' top fashion designer?"

"That's fine with me," replies Gordon and off they go.

Strolling along through the park, on the way to Karen's, the boys spy Judy Vallett and Sandy Jusczyk, who had come to Paris to try to forget their many problems. After a few words with Sandy and Judy, Gordon remarks that it certainly is a small world and they continue on their way. They are so absorbed in the scenery that they scarcely notice the two nurses, Bobbie Thompson ond Donna Stewart, until Gordon nearly knocks down one of their baby carriages. It seems that Bobbie and Donna are governesses for wealthy American families who are now touring Europe.

They move on and finally, after many interruptions, arrive at Karen's. There Karen is happy to see Gordon and Sam, and she gladly gives them a guided tour through her shop. Among the many seamstresses, sewing busily at their machines, Gordon recognizes a few familiar faces. He waves hello to Pat O'Neill, Joan Agan, Brenda Madan, Margaret Cataloni, and Jill Keating who are too busy to stop and chat because they are putting the finishing touches on the gowns for the biggest event of the year, the spectacular fashion show. Karen invites the boys to stay for the show, and naturally, having an eye for beauty, they graciously accept. Karen inquires if Sam and Gordon realize that some of their former classmates are now top models. Gordon curiously asks who, but Karen tells them to wait because the show is about to begin.

They pick out their classmates easily. Joan Partington, as stunning as ever, models a blue cocktail dress, while Lindy Galanti parades before them in a frothy pink evening gown. Sam comments that he's glad he stayed as Gordon points out two other models Karen Dauphinee and Brenda Pedini who are wearing "Best Line" bathing suits. Although they are having a wonderful time, Gordon realizes that he must be on his way. Thanking Karen for a lovely afternoon, they depart.

As they make their way back to the time machine, Gordon exclaims, "What's this, a Chinese Restaurant in Paris?"

"Why of course," explains Sam, "Didn't you know that Joe LaPlante owns one of the most successful establishments in Paris?"

After a delightful chinese dinner, Sam bids Gordon "Adieu" and a happy journey. However, Gordon decides to catch up on lost sleep before attempting another journey. He relaxes in the comfortable bed and, thinking back on the events of the day, is soon off to dreamland.

Next morning, sleeping soundly, Gordon is awakened only by the roar of a mighty jet. Glancing towards the sound he discovers it is none other than Rod Stearns. Quickly pressing the green button, Gordon is once again off and in hot pursuit of the other aircraft. In a few moments the time machine lands with a thud!!!!!

Emerging from the ship, Gordon detects the delightful aroma of pizza. Following his nose, Gordon makes his way to "The Leaning Tower of Pizza." Once inside he immediately orders the largest pizza available. Much to his surprise, he is served—it certainly is a surprise to have pizza in your lap! And who else but Bob Malagrida could do such a good job? While helping Gordon clean up, Bob informs him that the three musketeers, Eddie Marcheselli, Ron Linari and John Scarpellini, are co-owners. As Gordon munches his new pizza, he remarks that the boys have certainly come a long way from their old pizza party days at Eddie's.

Bob tells Gordon that the Olympics are now in Rome and offers to show him around. Upon arriving there, they spy Rod Stearns, accompanied by his stewardesses, Donna and Diane Cleary. Following Rod are the members of the American team; Bill Young, Diane Liberatore, Caroline Barboza, Maureen Canty and Clayton Clatur. Running up with their usual shouts and gaiety are Tessie, Sandra, and Ellen, cheering the kids on, as always, to victory.

Amidst the excitement a cry is heard, "Hot dogs! Gets your hot dogs right here!"

"Hey, isn't that Ed Whittier?" yells Sandra.

"Sure is," says Tessie and the gang rushes over to buy the chow.

After their fill of hot dogs, the group waves "a'rivederci" and

Gordon is once more on his way—this time to England.

The new prime minister, Mike Alessandri, greets Gordon heartily and entrusts him to his (um) page, Jon (uh) Lawton, who will tend to Gordon's needs. Buckingham Palace is their first destination and they easily slip by the straight faced guards, George Hodson and Doug Shelbourne.

Once inside, their fondest desire is to meet the queen. But, it is not as easy as it seems, for she is surrounded by her Ladies in Waiting Cheryl McConnell, Joan McCarthy, Nancy Tessier, Judy Hall and Judy Moody.

However, they finally see Joyce Kremindahl, who because of her beauty, was given the honor of Queen for a Day. Joyce invites them to a meeting of Parliament and they enter amidst a debate between Tony Tiatorio and Ted Robinson, still on opposite sides of the fence. Banging the gavel, Wayne Goebel brings the house to order. He had plenty of experience as president of the Student Council.

Seeing that the debate would last for hours, Gordon and Jon leave, thanking Joyce for a wonderful time. Because of their interest in education they decide to tour the well-known Melfie University.

After getting permission from Dean Harry to visit the various classrooms, they proceed. Stepping into the English classes, they notice Dave Thibault, the professor of an all girl class. Dave always did have good luck with girl classes. In the adjoining Spanish Lab., Kathy Houghton is trying to explain to student Dave Cinelli the imperfect tense. Dave never was much on Spanish.

Casually leaving, they return to the Dean's office, where his secretaries, Carlin Fales and Connie Chartier, inform them that the Dean has left. As they stand there chatting, Sally Nordberg and Nancy Peterson, members of the faculty, along with the school's nurse, Joan Ramondetta, enter.

"It's unbelievable," states Jon, "that so many from our old classes are together in London."

"Did you know Ann Carbonetti also teaches here?" replied Sally.

"That certainly is a record!" exclaims Gordon.

"Oh! Gordon," calls Carlin from her desk, "there is a memo here for you. Mr. Melfie's chauffeur, Walt Souza, is going to take you back to your machine."

Off again, Gordon picks Hawaii as his next stop. Three lovely maidens, Rosanna MacKinley, Lucille Farrell, and Gloria Nasise adorn him with leis of orchids and smile a warm "aloha."

Taking the first available taxi, Gordon recognizes John Santos as the driver.

"Hi! John," says Gordon, "where can I find a little excitement on this island?"

"Well tonight at the Hawaiian Room there's a "real gone" party and guess what—Brian Welch, the great comedienne, has top billing. Marcia Snell and Cynthia Fischback are singers there too. Remember how they got their start back in the M.H.S. Glee Club? Since Raye McLaughlin, the now famous Hollywood actress is in town, she will no doubt be there too.

"Gee, thanks for the information, John, I guess I'll give it a whirl. But what can I do this afternoon?"

"Well everyone goes to the beach during the afternoon, but first you must check into a hotel."

He takes Gordon to the "DePillo," owned by none other than their friend Ralph. Wilfred Laprise, manager, registers Gordon and rings for the bellboy, and Phil Harrington appears. Taking the bags to Room 215, the boys chat over the old times back in the states.

After getting settled, Gordon hurries to the beach which is packed because of the surf board demonstration being put on by the Navy. As Gordon rushes closer he hears the announcement of the performers. He is shocked, because he realizes that his classmates, Bob Alexander, Mike Picciandra, Normie Hawes, and Barry Brown have achieved fame in the Navy. After a delightful afternoon of swimming, Gordon leaves.

Thinking what a grand time he will have that night, Gordon starts across the beach, and because of his lack of attention, kicks over a bottle of coke, which unfortunately splatters on a clean white towel. Greatly embarrassed, he hurriedly stoops to clean up the mess, when he comes face to face with Carole Fisher and Joanne Goodwin, who are enjoying well deserved vacations. They mention that Gert Pazit is also in Honolulu on her way around the world.

Gordon leaves shortly, for he doesn't want to miss any of the night's festivities. As he walks toward the club, he is startled by the scream of an ambulance's siren, which screeches to a halt a short distance from him. As he approaches, a crowd gather around.

"Oh!" exclaims the woman next to Gordon, "There goes Judy Fitzsimmons, the most devoted nurse in her profession."

Gordon proudly remarks that he was a classmate of Judy's, and because of his delay climbs into a taxi and is off.

Pulling up to the curb the doorman of the club, Dick Scarpellini, helps Gordon out.

"Why Gordon Corey, of all people! How are you, Kid? Hey, Gordon," whispers Dick, as he quickly glances around, "did you know that there's a hot card game going on in the back room? Just knock three times and tell them Big Dick sent you."

"Thanks for the tip, Dick. I guess I'll stop by. See you later."

Once inside, Gordon finds himself in the midst of photographers and reporters interviewing the famous celebrities. Among them is Terre Chace, ace reporter talking with Raye; and Pauline Alfonso snapping a picture of Brian as he performs.

"Cigars, cigarettes, orchids for the ladies, cigars, cigarettes."

"Over here," cries Gordon, and up steps Carole Libertore with her tray of cigarettes.

"I'll take a pack, please."

"What kind?" asks Carol.

"Chocolate of course," replies Gordon.

"Thank you, sir," and with that Carol disappears into the crowd.

Gordon decides to get some poker chips for the card game.

"Give me $50 worth of chips, please."

"Here they are, sir," replies the head cashier, Linda Prescott.

"Knock, knock, knock," and at the given signal the door is opened.

"Big Dick sent me."

"It's o.k., fellows. He's a friend of Big Dick's."

Closing the door quickly after him, Gordon returns to his time machine, happy and RICH!!!!! How could he help himself after so much experience back home?

By this time Gordon is more than ready to return home and with great anticipation pushes the return button.

Descending from the "El Futuro" Gordon admits its' great to be back and is completely overwhelmed by the massive reception. Trumpets are blaring, drums are rolling, and cymbals are clashing as Harry Davis, John Sarro, and Steve Brannigan lead the band in "It's Magic."

Suddenly the band halts as the President of the United States, James Wills, steps forward to offer not only his sincere congratulations but the first HERO medal ever awarded for such a daring feat.

Gordon humbly accepts and as the crowd watches intensely he leans forward to whisper, "Where's the ole card game tonight?"

"1963"

In May of 1960 the sophomore class officers were chosen: President—Jack Ricardo, Vice-President—William Day, Secretary—Shirley Paioni, Treasurer—Sheila Paioni. The class advisors were Miss White and Mr. O'Neill. In September a meeting was held to select dance dates. As sophomores, we had third choice for our dance dates. We chose November 4 and April 28. The names of the dances were "Black Magic," and "Teenager's Delight." On December 17, the annual Christmas Dance was held where all four classes were assigned committees. The sophomore class had the responsibility of handling the Entertainment Committee.

An inexperienced Hornet football team, under the able direction of Coaches Parsons and Sullivan, showed up well, finishing the 1960 campaign with an impressive 7-2 record. The Hornets amassed 156 points to 60 for their opponents and lost only to strong teams from North Easton and North Attleboro.

The Hornets were led by Co-Capt. Ron Gentili, who handled the offensive chores and Senior Co-Capt. Ralph DePillo, who was the mainstay in the Hornet defense, which held its opponents to a mere 7 point average per game.

Congratulations for a fine season!

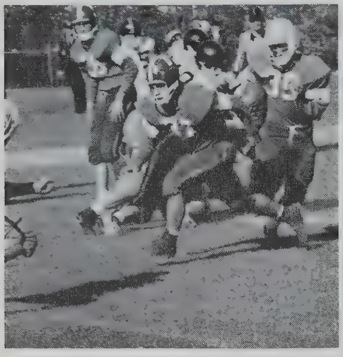
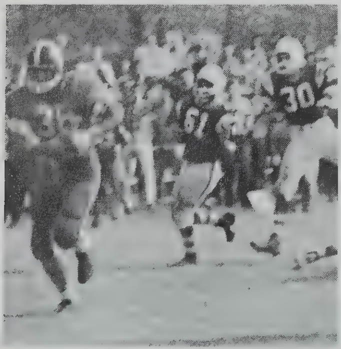
SOMERSET . . . A hard hitting Hornet eleven opened the season with a 16-0 victory over a strong Somerset squad. Mansfield came back after a scoreless first half on TDs by Co-Capt. Ron Gentili and Sam Davidson. The Hornets played a strong defensive game as they held Somerset scoreless.



FRANKLIN . . . Once again the Hornets rebounded back after a shaky first half to defeat Franklin 22-6. While trailing 6-0 late in the second quarter, a long Gentili to Marcheselli TD pass, and a conversion by Ken Picciandra, put the Hornets in front, 8-6, at the half. Other offensive highlights were two long TD jaunts by Ron Gentili in the second half.

OLIVER AMES . . . A determined Hornet team bowed to a powerful North Easton eleven, 14-8, for their first loss of the season and first in thirteen games. Mansfield did not get rolling until late in the final quarter when Sam Davidson scored, and Ron Gentili added the two point conversion. Time ran out before the Hornets could muster another scoring attack.



CANTON . . . The Hornets scored all their points in the last quarter to overpower Canton 20-0, in a defensive contest. A sixty-five yard Gentili to DePillo pass play set up the first score. The defensive stalwarts Marcheselli, Young, Dutton, DePillo, Stearns, Vickery, and Maxwell held Canton scoreless.

KING PHILIP . . . Once again the Hornets continued their winning ways by defeating King Philip 24-8. Mansfield bounced back after trailing 8-0 with first half TDs by Ron Gentili and Sam Davidson. The Hornets defensive line contained the King Philip offensive drives, while hard running Ron Gentili added the final tally with a 45 yard jaunt.

CASE . . . Mansfield trounced Case High of Swansea 22-0 in a wild, fist swinging contest. The Hornet offensive unit ran well, with several TDs being nullified by penalties. Gentili and Picciandra took care of all the scoring, while the Hornet defensive unit blanked Case.

ATTLEBORO . . . A spirited Hornet eleven defeated a powerful Attleboro team, 20-16, in a close, hard fought game. A see saw battle developed from the opening kick off, and was not decided until a fourth period Brent McCoy TD gave the Hornets the winning margin. Other important factors were two long touchdown runs by Gentili and the sterling defensive play by Ralph DePillo and the rest of the Hornet line.

NORTH ATTLEBORO . . . Two big games in a row proved to be too much for the Hornets as they fell before powerful North Attleboro, 16-6, with ace Ron Gentili scoring the only Mansfield touchdown. The game Hornets never gave up as they fought hard to overcome the Rocketeer lead, which proved to be too large a task. Rod Stearns turned in a brilliant all-around performance, making several key blocks and tackles.

FOXBORO . . . A confident Hornet team overwhelmed traditional "Turkey Day" rival, Foxboro, 18-0, in a rough and action-filled contest. Two touchdowns by Gentili and one by McCoy gave the Hornets the winning total. Seniors DePillo, Scarpellini, and Marcheselli turned in commendable defensive performances in blanking the Warriors. The victory over Foxboro gave the Mansfield football team a fine 7-2 season record, third best in Class D.

The 1960-61 edition of the Green Hornet hoop squad climaxed a very successful season with a 53-40 romp over Grafton. The victory gave the team another Class C Bay State Tourney championship. Other victories in the tournament included St. Mary's 62-52, Uxbridge 72-65, and Burlington 66-44.

During the Hockomock League campaign the Hornets finished second to Foxboro in Division I with a creditable 8-5 record.

Ron Gentili led scorers with 461 points for a new junior scoring record. He was followed by Bill Young 251, Rod Stearns 230, Ron Linari 217, and Gordon Corey, 179.

Baseball

Coach Sullivan's Hornet squad completed a very successful baseball season, winning 10 and losing only 3. The team finished second in Division I of the Hockomock League, one game behind Foxboro. The boys showed desire, hustle, and spirit throughout the season and only a costly loss to Oliver Ames late in the season prevented Mansfield from tieing for the Division I pennant.

Junior Ron Gentili led the team in hitting with a .380 average and also in pitching with a 9-0 record. Following Gentili in hitting were: Bill Young .325, Henry Austin .306, Joe Tartufo .300, and Ron Linari .285.

Senior lettermen who contributed greatly to the success of the team included Gordon Corey, William Young, Ron Linari, Henry Austin, Wayne Goebel, Steve Branigan, Dave Cinelli, and Dave Thibeault.

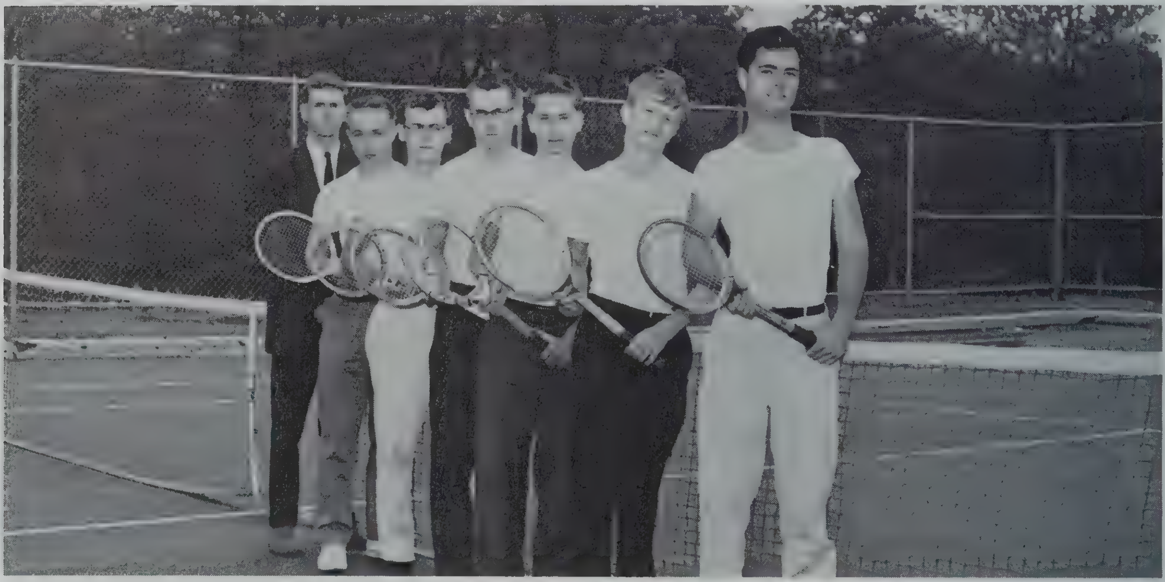
This season the girls' tennis team won the Hockomock League Championship for the second consecutive year. They have brought honor and prestige to our school and we are very proud of them. Congratulations, girls!!



Even though Mr. O'Neill's boys' tennis team did not win many matches their determination and spirit outshone their defeats. The boys worked hard and can be commended for their efforts.

Coach Parson's 1961 cinder squad did not win many meets, but certainly it showed several individual standouts. Senior Rod Stearns scored consistently in the broad jump and 880; Bob Dutton in the shotput; Fred Collingwood in the high jump; Senior Clayton Clatur in the pole vault; and Ronnie Gentili in the sprints. These boys and the rest of the squad put in many long hours of practice for Coach Parsons.

Due to the lack of participants the team did not fare too well in the major meets, but held its own in the dual meets.
